

CANCELLATION POLICY

Because of the limited size of the classes, Vegan Friendly Cooking has a two-week cancellation policy. To cancel two weeks in advance of the scheduled class, give me a call and you will be refunded for the class. If you cancel less than one week before your scheduled class and another student registers for the course, a refund will be issued. If I cannot fill the spot, you will not be refunded, but you may send someone else in your place – just send me an email with the substitute student's name and contact info.